WE'RE GIVING MULTI-FAMILY BUILDERS MORE PRESSURE TO SAVE MONEY

You could say we're turning up the pressure in building technology.

That's because SoCalGas® is now offering builders of new multi-family residential construction projects the option of participating in the elevated pressure (2 PSIG) program without being required to include a minimum number of natural gas appliances.

2 PSIG natural gas pressure helps multi-family builders more cost-effectively install the natural gas appliances customers prefer in their projects by enabling the use of smaller-diameter rigid houseline piping and/or corrugated stainless steel tubing (CSST), saving time and material.

Using natural gas pipe with inside diameters as small as 1/2 inch or CSST means you can make longer runs through smaller wall and ceiling areas, saving valuable space in your design.

It also allows you the flexibility to install additional natural gas end-uses and aids you in offering more natural gas appliance options which can make your project more appealing to potential residents.

Let 2PSI elevated pressure help take the pressure off your bottom line.

For more information visit: socalgas.com/2PSIG

People Helping People Build a Safer World

2015 INTERNATIONAL CODES®

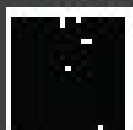

Resiliency, Safety, Innovation and Affordability

The 2015 International Codes:

- Are the only set of coordinated construction, fire and energy codes.
- Offer design flexibility without compromising safety.
- Provide clarity so the code is applied in a uniform manner.
- Address design and installation of innovative materials.
- Are developed through ICC's highly-respected and transparent consensus process.

Reader Service #28

Learn how you can get involved! Anyone is welcome to participate in ICC's code development process or become an ICC Member.

Upgrade options to entice home buyers

Small Investment. Big Wow.

As more and more home builders feature front-facing garage doors, the door plays an increasingly significant role in the home's curb appeal. Upgrading the garage door is a small investment that can yield a significant return*. Wayne Dalton offers more than 15 residential collections, with a multitude of color and window options to match any architectural style.

Check out how Wayne Dalton garage doors can boost your homes' curb appeal. Visit wayne-dalton.com for more information about our wide selection of products.

BIGFOOT
SYSTEMS® The Original.

Bigfoot. As close as you can get to putting down roots.

Wood - It's stronger and smarter. Bigfoot's Foundation Form has a well-engineered advantage - its shape. Our engineered, bell-shaped footing with a round base distributes weight evenly to the earth and is proven to greatly increase stability. And that's not all! Round footings are easier to build, take less concrete and can be installed in one day. Choose the best, the easiest and the strongest.

Build it with Bigfoot!

Bigfoot Foundation Forms fit all 6 to 78 inch diameter construction tubes. Check out our website for sizes that best suit your project.
